VOTE FOR TWO DECISION NOW REAL BUGABOO

Under Ruling of Supreme Court Weakest Candidate Might Secure Nomination

It was not the intention of the legislators who enacted the Nevada direct primary law that voters should vote for two primary candidates where but one is to be elected at the general election.

This statement in direct dissent to the supreme court ruling which has made necessary the reprinting of the Nye county ballots, was made this morning by former State Senator H. W. Huskey of Reno, who wrote the law and introduced it as senate bill 35 in the 1917 session.

"I know that it was the intention of the legislature," Senator Huskey said, "that where there are two or more candidates at the primaries for nomination to a judicial or school office, the voters should vote for one; and that the two candidates receiving the highest votes should be the nominees for the November election. School and judicial offices are the only nonpartisan ones under the Nevada law."

"As I recall the law without reading it now there is a provision elsewhere that when there are two officers to elect in November to like positions—say, two justices of the supreme court or two university regents—it is expressly stated that the voters shall vote for two. This provision would seem plainly to preclude the idea that when only one is to be elected in November, who shall be voted for at the primaries in September."

"This intent that two should be voted for when two are to be nominated, and one when one is to be nominated, was shown by an extensive discussion of the direct primary law when the bill was under consideration, and this feature was carefully considered apart from the rest of the measure."

Turning from a discussion of the law itself to the probable effect of the supreme court ruling, Senator Huskey pointed out that if the voters are instructed to vote for two for

MISS MAHEL DONALDSON, the accomplished and accommodating clerk of the candy and stationery department of the George Southworth company, returned last evening from Los Angeles, where she had been spending her vacation with relatives for the last month.

A. R. BROOKE, who is connected with the Tonopah Belmont Mining company, returned this morning from San Francisco, where he had been enjoying a vacation of two weeks.

AMUSEMENTS

ELAINE HAMMERSTEIN AT THE BUTLER TODAY

"Under Oath," starring Elaine Hammerstein, which comes to the Butler today, is a remarkably interesting study of the struggle constantly taking place between the newly rich and the old established order of aristocrats who have held their place in the social sphere for a number of generations. In this production Miss Hammerstein is the symbol of a refined and wealthy aristocracy. Pitted against her, newly rich and self-made, is a Wall street millionaire. The scenes between the two, each representing a stratum of society familiar to Americans, are vivid with emotion and intensely dramatic. Yet different as these two people are from a super-common point of view, they have a point in the heart. When love knocks at the door, then old prejudices and boundaries disappear. The latest "Pathe News" completes today's program. Tomorrow, Richard Barthelmess in "The Seventh Day," and "Snapshots" of famous movie stars. Coming: Hope Hampton in "Star dust."

nomination with but one to be elected in November, the natural tendency will be to vote first for the candidate they wish to see nominated and elected, and then for the candidate they consider the weakest, whom they do not want nominated, and who they believe stands the least chance of nomination.

"This was brought out in a hotel lobby discussion at Goldfield yesterday morning," Senator Huskey continued, "and it was decided that the result might be to nominate the very candidate whom a majority do not want nominated."

"This has been shown in cities that have the preferential ballot, under the commission form of government. At first, before the voters discovered the effect of voting for a weak candidate with the notion that he would not be nominated, many outsiders were nominated and elected because of the voters' tendency to play politics in marking their ballots."

"I consider it entirely possible for the supreme court's ruling to affect the result in the Nevada primaries in this fashion. At Goldfield I heard voters say that they would disregard the supreme court's instructions and vote for one for the nomination for the district judgeship, where there are three judgeships, and the fear is that the candidate considered weakest may receive more votes than either of the other two, because neither faction, backing the two favorites, wants to see the other strong man nominated. If both factions voted for two the 'outsider' might take first place. A ballot marked with but one name for judge would be entirely valid."

Senator Huskey, who came to Tonopah from Goldfield yesterday, will leave tomorrow for Manhattan, Round Mountain, Candelaria and other southern Nevada towns on his state-wide tour for the democratic congressional nomination to succeed Sam Arantz.
